My God, my God! dost thou care for me? Thou dost care for the poor and struggling soul. Thou knowest how hard the conflict is with those that are, by sickness and poverty, and ten thousand grating influences of life, made wretched. Thou art sorry for them, and thou art sending them sweet angelic influences; and if they will, thou wilt carry them through the desert, and they shall even see the promised land. Great is the power of thy grace over against our weakness and want. Grant unto them the vision of a God so merciful that all their wants shall seem to be supplied before they mention them. Thou knowest the inmost thought, thou knowest what we know not, -- the remotest necessities, --of our souls; and what can be better for us than to rest with unspoken requisitions before the...
