Excerpt: .of generations have been wont to call matter. And from all this it also follows, by calculation and by the simple and elegant reason-, -ing of Einstein, of which I here convey only /. the faintest adumbratign, that mass and en-, ergy are the same thing, or are at least tl1et VV-i , All this irresistibly compels us to think that) different sides of one and the same coin. There is, then, no longer a material mass. There is nothing but energy in the external universe. A strange--in a sense, an almost spiritual--turn for modern physics to takel According to all this the greater part of the mass of bodies must be due to a considerable and concealed internal energy. It is this energy which we find gradually dissipated in radio-active bodies, the only reservoirs of atomic energy which have as yet...
